COA 1: Declaratory Relief — Ordinance Invalid

Legal Basis: Utah Code 17-41-402(6) (now 17-81-402) — ordinance preempted by state law
Total Documents: 1922

> Tree Farm seeks a declaration that Salt Lake County Ordinance No. 1822 is invalid because it conflicts with Utah Code 17-41-402(6), which prohibits any county from adopting an ordinance that restricts operations involving sand, gravel, and rock aggregate -- the exact materials the ordinance prohibits. The documents below establish: (1) the ordinance expressly prohibits extraction of protected materials; (2) the County received repeated written warnings that the ordinance violated state law and proceeded anyway; and (3) the County's own District Attorney evaded the preemption question rather than addressing it on the merits.

COA 2: Permanent Injunction — Stop Enforcement of Invalid Ordinance

Legal Basis: Injunctive relief — preemption + due process violations
Total Documents: 1694

> Tree Farm seeks a permanent injunction to stop the County from enforcing the invalid ordinance. To prevail, Tree Farm must show: (1) the ordinance is void as preempted by state law (see COA 1) or that it violates Tree Farm's vested mining rights (see COA 3); (2) the County has taken or threatened enforcement actions; (3) Tree Farm faces irreparable harm; and (4) the balance of equities favors relief. The documents below focus on enforcement actions, predetermined outcomes, and due process violations including pre-drafted victory press releases, serial meetings covering all 9 council members, and statements of prejudgment.

COA 3: Declaratory Relief — Vested Mining Use (PRIMARY)

Legal Basis: Utah Code 17-41-501 to -503 (now 17-81-401 to -403)
Total Documents: 804

> THIS IS THE PRIMARY CLAIM. Tree Farm seeks a declaration that it holds a vested mining use under Utah Code 17-41-501 through -503 (now 17-81-401 to -403). Mining on this property dates to the 1890s -- before Utah statehood (1896) -- and decades before Salt Lake County adopted zoning in 1972. Vested mining uses are CONCLUSIVELY PRESUMED under the statute and run with the land. They cannot be extinguished except by written declaration of abandonment by the owner. The evidence below establishes: (1) Tree Farm filed notices of intention with DOGM; (2) Tree Farm obtained state mining permits; (3) mining operations predate the challenged ordinance; and (4) the County appears to have had NO awareness of Tree Farm's vested mining rights theory -- they focused their defense entirely on the preemption question.

COA 4: (Alternative) Regulatory Taking

Legal Basis: U.S. Const. Amend. V; Utah Const. Art. I §22; Penn Central / Lucas tests
Total Documents: 1209

> In the alternative, if the ordinance is somehow deemed valid, it constitutes a regulatory taking under the Fifth Amendment and Utah Const. Art. I Sec. 22. The documents below establish: (1) Economic Impact -- the ordinance eliminates all economically viable mining use of Tree Farm's mineral rights; (2) Interference with Investment-Backed Expectations -- Tree Farm made substantial investments in mining permits and operations before the ordinance; and (3) Character of the Government Action -- the ordinance was targeted legislation designed to shut down a specific operator, with officials and community members strategizing to destroy Tree Farm's mining rights.

COA 5: County Counterclaim — 17-41-402(6)(1) Does Not Preempt

Legal Basis: County's Declaratory Relief that 17-41-402(6)(1) does not preempt the ordinance
Total Documents: 2175

CaseBreak.ai

> COUNTY'S COUNTERCLAIM. The County seeks a declaration that Utah Code 17-41-402(6)(1) does not preempt the ordinance. The County's strongest arguments are: (1) the ordinance does not reference 'critical infrastructure materials' by statutory name; (2) the County acted within its police power to protect public health, safety, and environmental quality; (3) Tree Farm never obtained a conditional use permit; and (4) significant public opposition supports the County's governmental interest. NOTE: The County's vested-rights argument is wrong -- vested rights under 17-41-501 do not require a CUP. Review these documents to anticipate and counter the County's defense.
